

THE FACE OF CUSTOM STORAGE

Riverbound Custom Storage and RV Park is more than a safe place to house those special recreational toys; it is a growing community. In this community, people will get to know their neighbors. They will be able to ride in the surrounding, fully accessible desert and come to their home-away-from-home to BBQ with friends and family. Along with the surrounding BLM land designated for play and the custom “man caves” for storage and lounging, the entire property is only 7 miles north of Lake Havasu and is housed within an Opportunity Zone, giving your wallet a vacation of its own with significant tax breaks upon purchase.

Owner and Project Developer, Ryan Rodney, saw the glimmer of Lake Havasu City as a child on summer vacation in which he frequented the cherished desert town. He held on to his love for the area and knew it would be the ideal location for this pinnacle project--unlike any which the area had seen before. He knew also that to truly make Riverbound Custom Storage and RV Park a success, he wanted to utilize the local talent of the area and has used mostly local companies on the development. Rodney has taken pride in doing his part to make sure the local economy has benefited from this project as much as possible. He is grateful for the Lake Havasu City community and is honored to bring this novel concept to the area.
